

FROM MAN TO 'BOY'
THE HARD-KNOCK LIFE OF
AN NFL ROOKIE

THE OSCAR GOES TO...
OUR ACADEMY AWARDS
HIGHLIGHT REEL

CLEAN SWEEP
CHINA GETS A GRIP ON ITS GIANT ECO-PROBLEM

RECIPE FOR SUCCESS
AMERICA'S TEST KITCHEN
HAS COOKING DOWN TO A SCIENCE

AMERICAN AIRLINES - AMERICAN EAGLE

AMERICAN AIRWAYS

FEBRUARY 15, 2009

TRENDS FOR THE MODERN TRAVELER

DREW CAREY
A FUNNY THING HAPPENED ON THE
WAY TO STARDOM

Step Away from the Scissors

Bad hair happens — especially when you're on the road. But whether it's a clip, a style, or a color that calls you, rest assured that taking matters into your own hands is not the answer. (Been there, done that.) Instead, take our advice and book it to one of these salons. You won't be sorry. — Becca Hensley

Norbert Hair Designers, Washington, D.C. In a city where image is everything, politicians and television journalists covet a camera-ready coiffure. They find it at Norbert Hair Designers, just five blocks from the White House. An ideal image institution for nearly four decades, this dedicated salon excels at ensuring that its clients have perfect public presentation. From $70. 1050 Connecticut Avenue Northwest, (202) 466-2111

Osgood-O'Neil Salon, Dallas Forget big hair. These days, Dallasites want haute hair in à la mode styles, with just a touch of Texana, and to get it, they head to any of the three hip Osgood-O'Neil salons. Every appointment begins with a personal consultation, and all technicians specialize in either cuts or styling. Added bonus: Allure magazine voted co-owner J.T. Osgood one of the best colorists in D-Town. From $45. 6932 Snider Plaza, 3213 Knox Street, and 4320 Lovers Lane, (214) 373-6336; www.osgoodoneil.com

The Men's Room, Jon English Hairspa Uptown, Minneapolis Compete for a seat at the Men's Room with the likes of Mikhail Baryshnikov. An urbane Uptown-situated all-male mane shop, it offers comely creations in a crotchety barber-and-brilliantine-free setting. This modern hair haven is sure to mediate that midlife crisis. (Women can get hair help at any of the city's other Jon English Salons.) From $32. 1441 West Lake Street (first floor), (612) 822-5050, www.jonenglishsalons.com

Umi Salon, Boston Everybody wants a haircut by Jeffrey Dauksevich. But if you can't afford to wait for an appointment (or pay $300 for a clip), try any of Umi's other stellar stylists, all trained by the master Dauksevich himself. On historic Newbury Street, in Boston's beloved Back Bay, this contemporary salon attracts style-savvy businesspeople, artists, and musicians from around the world. From $125. 75 Newbury Street, (617) 247-0770, www.umisite.com

Mr. Pinkwhistle, San Francisco Composed of intricate layers that swirl and move, the signature haircuts by salon owner Simon Marc set the "chic" bar high in San Francisco. Clients travel from as far away as Hong Kong for makeovers by Marc (or his specially trained stylists) in a setting that's more akin to an art gallery than to a hair bar. Close to Chinatown, the salon offers the advantage of post-appointment dim sum. From $75. 580 Bush Street, (415) 989-7465, www.mrpinkwhistle.com

Osgood-O'Neil Salon, Lovers Lane location

When You're on the Road, Don't Leave Home Without ...

Umi Salon's miraculous Umi Powder. A dry shampoo and an indispensable travel companion that provides fullness and pliability to style-hungry hair. Available in a two-ounce carry-on size. $28. www.umisite.com

Philip B's Jet Set Precision Control Hair Spray. A handbag-size, lightweight spray that texturizes while freshening hair with botanicals. Stylists at John Frieda Salon in L.A. don't go anywhere without it. $18. www.philipb.com

Kerastase Bain de Force Shampoo. Osgood-O'Neil Salon stylists like this shampoo for plumping, fortifying, and moisturizing superdry hair. $32. www.kerastase.com

Beauty Scoop. Reverse travel damage with just one serving a day of this dissolvable vitamin-peptide-mineral formula. It boosts the body's regenerative power, which results in stronger, shinier hair. $75 for a three-week supply. www.beautyscoop.com

Shu Uemura Moisture Velvet Nourishing Treatment. An intensive conditioning mask infused with camellia oil that restores shine and moisture to dry hair. Combine it with the DepSea Foundation ($30) before blow-drying for the ultimate hair transformation. $60. At select salons nationwide; call (866) 914-8750 to find one near you.