Dark circles, dry skin, laugh lines -- sometimes we all need a quick (injection-free) beauty fix. Two new products aim to beautify the all-natural way.

Billed as an "edible beauty accessory," BeautyScoop, $75 for a 21-day supply at BeautyScoop.com, is said to reduce the appearance of fine lines and wrinkles, add shine to hair and strengthen nails. Stir the veggie-based powder into the hot or cold beverage of your choice (even cocktails are OK) and ingest eight ounces of peptides, antioxidants, proteins and omega-3 fatty acids said to boost regenerative powers. BeautyScoop reports results can be seen in up to three weeks. Sounds a bit too good to be true, but fans like Marcia Gay Harden and Ricki Lake swear by the product.

Multitaskers will love the BORBA Atomizer, $21 at Borba.net. Designed for face, skin and all forms of fabric, the misting spray uses antioxidants to boost elasticity, cool and calm skin, replenish moisture and renew natural glow. Spritz over your face, neck and pillow and extracts from mangosteen, pomegranate, grape seed and cucumber go to work.
